----------------------------	------------------------------------	--

EMS agencies, insurance companies, and state licensing offices across the country are adopting guidelines for training ambulance operators (drivers/providers). Not only are formal courses available, but informal courses also exist to provide primary and continued training to arguably the most important person in the ambulance: the person getting us from “point-A to point-B.”

We’re offering three total courses as part of our Ambulance Operator Training Program to meet your agency’s needs. Whether you’re looking for a short “update” or renewal course, a full certification course, or hands-on/practical experience, we’ve got a course designed to properly train your providers....both new and experienced.
